THE CITY COUNCIL.

The Defeat of the Citizens' Co-operative Light Company Proposition, and Standard Time Again Considered.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday night, all the members were present with the exception of James N. Miles, who was ill and unable to attend.

A petition signed by a large number of the business men asking for the repeal of the order of the council to enforce the ordinance to prevent vehicles from being kept on the streets was presented, when Mr. McClure offered an amendment to the ordinance to except the transient trade from the provisions. The amendment was adopted by a vote of seven to one, Chairman Milam being the negative voter.

Mr. Wm. Cromwell, in behalf of the Frankfort Furniture Company, requested the council to defer the collection of the city taxes against that company indefinitely, in order that authority may be had, after the passage of the third class charters by the Legislature, for the exemption of the company from taxation for five years. A letter was read to the council from the board of trade of Muncie, Indiana, in which great inducements were offered the company to remove their plant to that town. As it is the intention of the council to grant the exemption later, a motion that the request for a postponement of city taxes against the company was adopted. Leave was given the finance committee to examine the reports of the city officers before their presentation to the council.

The claim of Mr. D. M. Woodson for $54 for work performed in surveying the route for the street railroad was allowed.

An ordinance amending the ordinance granting the right of way to the street car company was reported by the street committee without any expression of opinion. The amendment grants the company the privilege to haul freight. On motion of Mr. Swigert the matter was postponed until next Thursday night.

The license of B. J. Nickles & Co. was fixed at $30.

Mr. Miles, of the work-house committee, reported that the jailer had agreed to take city prisoners at a fixed rate, and recommended that in the future all such prisoners arrested after dark, if arrested nearer the jail than the work-house, be lodged in the jail. The report was adopted. This arrangement precludes the necessity for a station-house in the old bridge property, as first contemplated.

Mr. Miles, from the same committee, reported favorably an ordinance creating the office, defining the duties and fixing the salary of a city engineer. The ordinance was passed and Mayor Tobin, who was present, immediately affixed his signature to it. The new officer will superintend the construction of all street work and see that the work-house inmates are properly cared for. He will receive a salary of fifty dollars a month.

An election for a commissioner was then announced in order, and the following names were presented: Joseph H. Bailey, Jerry Brislan and W. P. Ely. The first ballot gave Mr. Bailey five votes and he was declared duly elected.

Three gas lights on both upper Main and Wilkinson streets were ordered erected. The gas committee reported the petition of the Citizens' Co-operative Light Company with the recommendation that an ordinance should not be passed. Mr. Swigert stated that the committee had made a full investigation of the matter and learned that if an ordinance should be adopted it would involve the city in expensive litigation with the Capital Gas and Electric Light Company. A unanimous vote thereupon refused to grant the request in the petition.

Mr. Ellwanger, from the health committee, reported a resolution to the effect that in the controversy over the office of city physician, between Dr. Alvin Duval and George Chinn, the council recognize the claim of Dr. Chinn and not that of Dr. Duval. It was adopted.

Mr. Miles moved that the clock-keeper be directed to turn the clock forward to sun time, and Mr. Swigert then moved to lay that motion on the table. Mr. Swigert's motion did not prevail, and on the motion by Mr. Miles the vote stood: yeas—Messrs. Milam, Miles, Furr and Watson; nays—Messrs. Swigert, Gray, McClure and Ellwanger. The motion was therefore lost.

This action of the council bodes ill for standard time and it is probable the first full meeting of the board will order the change back to sun time, despite the general acceptance of the former system in nearly every city in the United States.

Twenty dollars were appropriated, on motion of Mr. Gray, for the Louisiana flood sufferers.

The council then cleared the lobby, and for thirty minutes were in secret session as a committee of the whole, after which they adjourned to meet again next Tuesday night, when the bids for the work-house will be opened.

Mrs. R. C. Rhea,

Of Milford, Neb., says she suffered greatly from a complication of diseases of female weakness and liver and kidney troubles. Her health was fully restored by using Dr. Hale's Household Tea, the most pleasant and effective medicine known. 25c. and 50c. per package at P. H. CARPENTER'S drugstore.

MISS SALLIE THEOBALD.

The Company in Which She Plays Will Appear at Lexington To-night.

Hoyt's Company in a "Hole in the Ground," in which Miss Sallie Theobald, of this city, plays, will appear at the opera house in Lexington to-night. As Manager Gaines could not arrange for the company's appearance in this city, he is enterprising enough to run a special train to Lexington for the occasion. This will enable all who wish to witness Miss Theobald's performance to obtain a reserved seat and go to and return from Lexington that night. It is said that a large number of citizens have secured tickets since Wednesday, the day the reserved seats were first placed on sale in this city, which, together with the sales of seats in Lexington, insure the company a crowded house.

Glad Tidings.

The grand specific for the prevailing malady of the age, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Rheumatism, Constipation, General Debility, etc., is Aunt Fanny's Health Restorer. This great herbal tonic stimulates the digestive organs, regulates the system to vigorous health and energy. Samples free. Large packages 50c. Sold by Chapman & Williams. 46

FOR DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion, and Stomach Disorders, take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. All dealers sell it at 10c per bottle. Genuine has trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

JAMES H. SWANGO.

A Compliment to Frankfort in Award of Honor to him at Centre College Wednesday.

At the celebration of Washington's birthday Wednesday at Centre College, Danville, Mr. James H. Swango, of this city, formerly of Hazel Green, Wolfe county, and son of Judge G. B. Swango, Register of the Land Office, was awarded the honor of representing the college at the State Oratorical contest that will take place at Lexington this year.

The award was made after a competitive contest, in which Mr. Swango, Claude M. King, of Danville; Jas. L. McWilliams, of Louisville, and Lem H. McHenry, of Hartford, were engaged. Mr. Swango's topic was "The Plutocrat," and the judges were Hon. John W. Hughes, of Harrodsburg; Col. Wm. Welch, of Stanford, and Mr. Lucian Gray, of Lancaster. This is the second time this honor has come to Frankfort, Mr. Martin D. Hardin securing it last year, and to merit it after a contest with the most eminent scholars, is a high tribute of praise to the oratorical powers of the recipient, whose many friends here naturally feel a pride in his accomplishments and success.

A GOOD RECORD. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ten years," says druggist E. B. Legg, of Vail, Ia., "and have always warranted it and never had a bottle returned. During the past 90 days I have sold twelve dozen and it has given perfect satisfaction in every instance." It does not dry up a cough, but loosens and relieves it. It will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by J. W. GAYLE, Druggist. 22-1m.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS

To Nominate a Candidate to Succeed Hon. E. H. Taylor, jr., in the House.

The Democratic County Committee on Monday ordered precinct mass meetings for this afternoon at two o'clock, for the purpose of selecting delegates to a convention to be held at the court-house Monday, to nominate a candidate to succeed Hon. E. H. Taylor, jr., the member of the House from this county. The only announced candidates for the Democratic nomination are Mr. Charles H. Julian and Mr. L. J. Cox.

Examining Board Appointed.

Messrs. Harry Rogers, Thos. R. Todd and Miss Emma Morris have been appointed by the Post-Master General as an examining board under the Civil Service act, to examine applicants for positions in the post-office in this city.

What Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has done for others for nearly two generations it will do for you. If you will try it once, you will be convinced that it is the best family medicine, and you will never be without it.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contains Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Sold by Druggists, price 75 per bottle.

It pleases the lawyer and his client too, to have the verdict of the jury unanimous. A great jury composed of the American public has rendered an unanimous verdict on Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure as a medicine, agreeing that its promises of a speedy cure for coughs, colds and bronchial troubles are always carried out to the letter. This pleasant verdict has not been obtained without great pains taken to make it the best cough cure on the market. AGAIN IN THIS CITY—Mr. Wm. O'Donnell, one of the most efficient salesmen in the city, and who, if his health would admit of his living in Louisville, would now be enjoying a splendid position at Kaufman & Strus' elegant store on Fourth street, has been obliged to return home. He has taken a department at the store of Mr. I. Davis, where he will be pleased to have his many friends call on him.

PROMOTED — Mr. Charles Taylor, depot foreman of the Louisville and Nashville railroad in this city, has been made the night clerk under Mr. W. W. Alexander, the agent for the same road at Cincinnati. Mr. Taylor entered upon his new duties Wednesday.

The Falls City was expected here yesterday, to be followed Monday by the City of Clarksville, and a general resumption of the river trade will take place at once. It was presented to her by the Revisory Commission for extra services in assisting them in procuring such books in and out of the library, which the performance of their duty required. ### TWO SPLENDID BANDS.

Frankfort Now Enjoys Good Music and the Musicians Should be Encouraged.

OPEN AIR CONCERTS.

Few cities the size of Frankfort can truly say they possess as fine a brass and string band as the bands in this city, under the leadership of Prof. Wolf. To maintain such an organization usually demands a larger field for the exercise of the vocation, and that musicians of the high order of talent of a number of those composing the Frankfort bands are finding encouragement here for greater effort and more perfect instrumentation is a compliment to the enterprise and good taste of the public which the ROUNDABOUT takes a pleasure in commending. There are many people in this city who know what good music is and would find much of their enjoyment in hearing it if it were possible to have the cornet band play at regular intervals in the open air some place during this summer, and now that the city has a band that is worth listening to, some one should take the initiative and secure the State House yard for this purpose, either from the Governor, State Librarian or by the passage of a resolution in the Legislature to that effect. It would not injure the State's property in the least to grant this request and in addition to providing the citizens the use of the equivalent of a small park, afford practice for the band and stimulation in the audiences present for increasing efficiency and gradual improvement in the character of the music rendered. If the members of the band could not spare the time to play gratuitously for the public, as a band did some years ago, it is believed that a sufficient sum could easily be raised by a subscription to remunerate them. If Frankfort is to retain the capital, the State officials and members of the Legislature would naturally prefer that a band be maintained here which is capable of furnishing good rather than inferior or indifferent music, and for that reason, if no other consideration entered into the question, it is thought that on the part of the State there would be no objection whatever urged against the use of the State House yard. At any rate in the proposed concerts, the rewards both to the people and the band are such as should inspire some public spirited citizen to set about endeavoring to carry out the idea advanced here. Judge W. H. Sneed, succeeded some years ago, when the incentives both in the quality of the band and the retention of the capital were not half as good then as now, and what was accomplished at that time and afterwards discontinued, ought now to be entered upon with more enthusiasm and interest.

Minstrels.

The Vreeland Minstrels, who appear at the Clean Opera House this evening, promise to give us one of the best performances of its kind that has ever been seen here. The company opened its season at the Gibson Opera House in Salamanca last evening. A Times representative says the performance, which was unusually bright, clean, pleasing and satisfactory, thoroughly entertaining a good audience. The singing, by the Columbian Quintette and the solos by Mr. Heck and Mr. Holmes, are notable features of the performance. Arthur Deming is as funny as any one ever seen in minstrelsy. He reminds one of the famous Geo. Wilson. "Take your feet out of the sand," who appeared here last season. Geo. Hassell, the premier male soprano and burlesque artist, has no superior in his line, while the solo dancing of Larry McEvoy, the musical act of Thompson and Duolos, and the unique specialties of Kenny and Vonder are fully up to the standard. The company is well balanced, and it is a go from the rise of the curtain on the first until the close of the performance. —Clean, New York, Daily Times, August 12.

OF HEART FAILURE.

The Wife of Mr. Charles G. Payne Dies Suddenly Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon the city was shocked by the intelligence that Mrs. Ida Payne, the wife of Mr. Charles G. Payne, late city clerk, had died suddenly at her home on Cross street, of heart failure. That morning the deceased had become the mother of a child born dead, and was thought to be pressing as well as could be expected. Shortly before twelve o'clock she suddenly exclaimed to her husband that her heart was on fire, and that she believed she was dying. Not suspecting the real danger, Mr. Payne endeavored to rally her and thought for a while he had succeeded when she again told him she was certain she was dying. Upon that he hastened to summon the physician, but before he returned his wife had passed away.

The grief-stricken husband was overcome with his sorrow, made doubly poignant by the unconscious prattling of two innocent children, the elder of whom continued to repeat to him that "Mamma did not tell a story, papa, did she? She did die."

Mrs. Payne was about twenty-six years of age, the daughter of Mr. J. Bell, deceased, and a sister of Misses Sarah and Minnie Bell, teachers in the City School and Feeble-minded Institute. She was a lady of amiable disposition and fine character, who enjoyed the esteem of a large circle of friends. Her husband and their two children, one not yet four years and the other not two years of age, mourn their sad bereavement.

The funeral ceremony took place Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a member, and one grave became the abode of rest for both the remains of the mother and dead infant.

SENATOR LINDSAY

Takes the Oath of Office and is Assigned to a Seat in the United States Senate.

Judge Wm. Lindsay, of this city, the newly elected Senator, was sworn in and took his seat in the United States Senate Tuesday. Senator Joe Blackburn introduced him to the members of that body and he was assigned to the chair lately occupied by Senator Camden, of West Virginia. The desk at which Hon. Jno. G. Carlisle formerly sat, was decorated on the occasion in honor of Mr. Carlisle's successor, with the model of a log cabin standing in a garden of roses.

The following Kentuckians witnessed the ceremonies: Mrs. Wm. Lindsay, Mrs. J. C. S. Blackburn, Mrs. Alex. P. Montgomery, Mrs. Thomas H. Paynter, Mrs. James E. Cantrill, Col. E. Polk Johnson, Hon. James A. McKenzie, Hon. J. Stoddard Johnston, Col. R. C. Wintersmuth, James C. Edwards and Mrs. James W. Blackburn.

BIDDING ADIEU.

Hon. E. H. Taylor, Jr., in a Lengthy Telegram, Closes his Term in the House.

On Monday, the day Hon. E. H. Taylor, Jr.'s resignation as a member of the House took effect, that body received the following self-explanatory telegram from Col. Taylor, who was in Washington City at the time, viz:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20. Hon. W. M. Moore, Speaker: Though separated by many miles from my colleagues, my heart goes out to them on this, the closing day of my service as a member of the House. Imagining myself standing by your side and looking into the faces of my fellow members, there is not one I am not proud to call my friend, and for whom I do not cherish heart-felt wishes for their happiness and prosperity. Whatever may be our future pathways, however much they diverge, it will be a constant pleasure to recall all of you with the reflection that no act of unkindness, no word of bitterness or reproach, has marred our intercourse during the term of our mutual service. Will you do me the kindness to lay this message before the House as my parting salutation to yourself and the members of that body?

E. H. TAYLOR, JR.

The telegram was the occasion for calling forth many kind expressions of praise for Franklin county's distinguished Representative and all united in a wish that his career in the Senate, to which it was known that he would be elected the next day, would be as eminently satisfactory and successful both in relation to the members of the Senate and his constituents as it had been for the period just closed in the House.

The First Law of Nature.

This self-preservation is acknowledged to be, and people who adopt against the encroachments of disease a genuine medicinal safeguard, accredited by experience and the sanction of physicians, afford a happy illustration of the wisdom of the saying, in the health they restore and continue to enjoy, among maladies, against the growth of which Hosea Cook, who was killed by Indians near this city in 1792, Smith's History of Kentucky, referring to the killing, says: "About the same time (April, 1792) a prosperous settlement of the Cooks, Lewis Martin, William Bledsoe and several others with their families in Quinn's Bottom on South Elkhorn, and some four miles from Frankfort, was raided by about one hundred Indians. The brothers Cook were first killed and their wives, with three little children, left to defend the cabin. The doors were barricaded and the only gun seized by one of the Spartan women. Having no bullets, she split in two a piece of lead and rounded it to fit the rifle and quickly loaded it. The Indians had failed to beat down the door and putting the end of the gun at a small opening in the logs, she took deliberate aim at an Indian and shot him dead. The infuriated savages mounted the roof and set fire to it. One of the women ran up to the loft and while the other handed her water, put out the flames as often as the torch was applied. The water failing, she broke a lot of eggs and quenched the flames again. Lastly they unrobed the vest of the dead husband of one, saturated with his blood, and smothered the kindling fire with it. The savages, baffled and uneasy lest an escaped messenger might bring an avenging force upon them, now abandoned the house, went off a distance and climbed some trees for observation. Coming down they sunk the body of the dead Indian in the waters of the Elkhorn and departed. Besides the Cooks, there were killed Martin, two of Dunn's sons and one negro and two captured. A company of one hundred men pursued the bandits but they escaped over the Ohio with a loss of one or two."

The County Clerk at last counts could not find among his records the names of the widows but it is possible there are descendants of those brave pioneers living in the State who may be able to furnish Col. Durrett the information he seeks.

Count Casper.

Charles T. Ellis drew a crowded house last night at the Park Theatre to see him in his new comedy-drama, "Count Casper." Mr. Ellis belongs to a class of players that are very much liked by audiences in the metropolis, the singing comedians, and, judging from the encores he received last night, he is a strong popular favorite. The new part he plays gives ample opportunity for Mr. Ellis to display his fine voice in the numerous songs interspersed throughout the piece. Mr. Ellis has two clever little tots, Florrie O'Brien and Mattie Grier, with whom he romps on the stage in a very taking manner. He is ably assisted in his mirth making by Charles W. Swain, as Terry McFadden, and Clara Moore, at Nora O'Hoolihan. Miss Marion Ballou, in the ingenue part of Rose Comstock, the General's daughter, won merited applause.—New York Democratic News.

Indians Kill Hosea and Jesse Cook and County Clerk Requested to Examine Records for Christian Names of the Widows.

Col. R. T. Durrett, of Louisville, who is a member of the Filson Club, which is engaged in preparing a complete history of Kentucky, wrote to County Clerk Smith Tuesday for information, if it can be found in his office, concerning the Christian names of the widows of Jesse and Hosea Cook, who were killed by Indians near this city in 1792. Smith's History of Kentucky, referring to the killing, says: "About the same time (April, 1792) a prosperous settlement of the Cooks, Lewis Martin, William Bledsoe and several others with their families in Quinn's Bottom on South Elkhorn, and some four miles from Frankfort, was raided by about one hundred Indians. The brothers Cook were first killed and their wives, with three little children, left to defend the cabin. The doors were barricaded and the only gun seized by one of the Spartan women. #### A SINGULAR CASE.

The Conditions in even the Distance to Louisville can be Overcome by Mr. Wm. O'Donnell in an Effort to Acclimatise Himself.

In the recent singular experiences of Mr. Wm. O'Donnell, of this city to acclimatise himself in Louisville, there is something that affords Frankfort just cause for gratulation. Having secured a position with Kaufman & Straus, of Louisville, Mr. O'Donnell made four different attempts to remain in that city, and each time became quite ill of a disorder, which confined him to bed, and refused to allow any food to remain on his stomach. After each attack he returned to Frankfort and within a few days would be pronounced entirely restored, only to go down to Louisville again and suffer a repetition of the strange affection. At last his physicians in Louisville told him that it was impossible for him to live in that city; that if he were to return every day in the year he would become ill. The firm, appreciating him, kindly sent him temporarily to their store in Lexington, where he had no trouble in maintaining perfect health. At home Mr. O'Donnell is known as a strong, healthy man, and the question naturally arises as to what it is in Louisville that so peculiarly affects him. The altitude of Frankfort is 550 feet, as the Geological Bureau shows, and that of Louisville 430 feet, while Lexington is 1,050 feet above sea level. The cause of his malady can not grow out of the water, for he drank river water here as well as in Louisville, besides in Lexington the hydrant water is so vile that the Transcript denominates it "Manurial Tea." Whether then it is due to the difference in altitude or to the volume of smoke and dust in Louisville, it is a mystery, but no less a proof that despite the hills surrounding this city, often maliciously termed "A hole in the earth," Frankfort is yet higher, purer in atmosphere and healthier than Louisville, which is itself reckoned among the healthiest of the large cities in the country.

Ex-Gov. Buckner Is Preparing a Refutation of the Charges Made Against His Character By Gov. Brown.

Ex-Gov. Buckner is in the city, and it is known that he is engaged in preparing an answer to the attack on his character which Gov. Brown and Mr. Jno. W. Headley made under the guise of an official document relating to the accounts of the Mason-Ford Company. Those who have had the answer outlined to them say that the distinguished ex-Governor's defense will not leave any room to doubt that Gov. Brown's attack was conceived during the gubernatorial canvass, when he held Gov. Buckner responsible for his defeat in Hart county; that official circumspection and efficiency had little to do with the subject-matter which, to say the least, reflects small credit upon the author's judgment and fair dealing with the people and his predecessors. It is also hinted that the document, in addition to a complete refutation of the charges made, can hardly be expressed in language to suit the case without the sting of the instrument which those may expect who unjustly assault character. The answer will probably be ready for publication today.

A Quick Match.

The Ness Family, in their musical comedy, "A Quick Match," at Potter's Opera House last night, was something out of the ordinary course, and was the most delightful entertainment of the kind ever given in this city. This is saying a good deal when we consider the fact that the best shows that appear at Louisville and Nashville are secured by the enterprising managers of the Potter Opera House. The audience showed its appreciation by frequent and long-continued applause, and several members of the wonderfully gifted family were called before the footlights for the third and fourth time.—Booting Green Times.

THE ELECTION

Held Tuesday For State Senator And the Majority Awarded to Col. Taylor.

The result of Tuesday's election for State Senator gives Hon. E. H. Taylor, Jr., of this city, about 1,300 majority in the three counties, Anderson, Mercer and Franklin.

In this county the vote stood: Taylor, 822; Jno. C. Sutherland, Populist, 98, and Judge T. M. Cardwell, Republican, 44. Taylor's majority in Anderson was about 800, and in Mercer about 200. Very little interest was shown in the election by any one of the parties other than the Populists, as it was generally conceded that Mr. Taylor would not only win the race, but was fairly entitled to it by his efficient services in the House for this county, which had the right in the agreed round of nominations to name the successor to Judge Lindsay. The following is the vote in each precinct in this county:

It fills the bill—a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Laxative, Sick or Bilious Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured. But not in the way the huge, old-fashioned pill tries to do it. They cleanse and regulate the whole system naturally. In other words, they do it thoroughly, but mildly and gently. There's no disturbance to the system, diet or occupation. They're the smallest in size, but the most effective in result—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. Only one little sugar-coated Pellet for a laxative—two for a cathartic.

The Lover's Messenger.

Go, Valentine! Seek out the maid
To me thus I give my aid.
Invoke St. Cupid's kindly aid,
And whisper in her ear
The message that I give to thee:
Put forth the utmost art
Win, if thou canst, her favor free,
And touch her maiden heart.

Tell her that from his steadfast love
There naught is more than true;
Sweet by thy glorious aid;
I'm true till death to her.
Tell her no bird in feathered dress
Has more true love than I;
From eyes who have her face seen
I trace an honored name.

With gifts that sweet mortals seek—
Tell her my cup o'erflows;
Health lights my eye, and on my cheek
Youth—fresh and ruddy, glows;
But should the still unfolding prove,
Even then do not despair;
That I'm a millionaire.

STREET RAILROAD AMENDMENT.

An Electric Line to Haul Both Freight and Passengers Proposed if the Council Grants the Right.

AN ENTERPRISE TO BE ENCOURAGED

The city council have under consideration an amendment to the street railroad ordinance, which permits the railroad company to haul freight over the line of the company, mills, factories and distilleries. The council have decided to act upon the amendment next Tuesday night, and in order that the true sense of the people on the subject might be obtained, they have requested that all the citizens living along the proposed route who have any objections to urge against the measure be present at the meeting that night. The railroad company is an enterprise which it must be conceded, in its present condition, is more of a public favor than a source of private profit, and as the gentlemen composing the company have assumed the great risk chiefly because they believed the capital of the State needed such a public convenience, the citizens should deal fairly with them and allow them to increase its efficiency so as to admit of an extension of the line and the change from the mules to electric power. Without the right to haul freight, and which by the way could be regulated within certain hours after the passenger travel had ceased at night, the company will not find sufficient profit in the outlay for the proposed improvements which no progressive citizen with the interest of the city at heart could fail to appreciate and commend. It was proper for the council to seek the fair expression of the people on the line on the proposed amendment, but the people and the members of the board should think of the advantages to accrue to the city by an electric line that will eventually penetrate the suburbs in every direction, as the objections to the use of the streets for hauling freight, which some maintain will become a nuisance, but which after all, with the proper regulations in law, are more capricious than real. Throw proper safeguards around the operation of the railroad, gentlemen of the council, but by all means encourage rather than repress an enterprise which promises so much for the prosperity and growth of the city.

Corner Chat.

A Deputy United States Marshal, on the train the other day coming from Louisville, was showing a number of passengers a pair of hand-cuffs which he intended to place on the wrists of certain prisoners who were to be tried this week in Louisville. He said that one of the prisoners was a well-to-do man, but that he would not make any distinction on that account. Said he: "I have had prisoners to say: 'you know me and know that I will not try to escape,' and I reply that they may know it themselves, but I do not; but the irons are more as a security for their own lives than any necessity for me. You see there is no telling what temptations might arise for a prisoner to escape while en route to a destination, and I would not wish to kill any prisoner, white or black. Hence I handcuff all my prisoners. Recently I had to go to Paducah to get a certain prisoner who stands high up in quality, connection and intelligence, and I was bantered by the best of the marshals who said they knew I would not chain him. I confess I didn't like to do it, but I firmly told him he would have to submit and he did, and when I got up from the seat I looked him in the eye and said: 'I would have done the humblest citizen in the State. Now that precautionary measure is a duty I owe to the marshal who appointed me, and it is for that reason he always selects me whenever he has prisoners to be conducted from place to place. I have been all over this country during the past four years, and I suppose I have made more and saved more money out of my position than anyone who preceded me. I have made on an average no less than $3,500 a year and when I quit I'll have $4,000, besides a house and lot and other property I have accumulated. Now the Deputy Marshal at Frankfort ought to have done even better than I, because he was well acquainted with all the court officers and knew how to manipulate the springs to his interest, while I didn't even know Major Burgett when I asked him for the place. I had only been in Louisville a year and was from a northern State, but you see I watched my chances and turned every corner to my advantage that I could.'"

A gentleman speaking of the amusing incidents of love proposals, said: "The wife of a friend of mine, a gentleman who lives in Louisville and is known all over the State, told me that when her husband, whose general tone of conversation inclines to railery, first proposed to her, she thought it such a funny thing to see him look and speak with such a serious air that she could not refrain from smiling. This offended him and he did not call on her for several months afterward. At length a cousin from a distant city visited the lady and together the couple was set to induce the return of the gentlemen. A note was despatched by the cousin, who knew him quite well, stating that she was visiting at the house and hoped that she would have the pleasure of an early call from him. He did call and the cousin, after a short while alleged an excuse, left the room promising to return within a few moments. Instead of the cousin, the future wife walked in and appeared to be very much surprised to find the gentleman in the parlor alone. It was on a Sunday afternoon and a walk around Cave Hill Cemetery was proposed by the gentleman. At last as the lady was seated on the pedestal of a monument and facing another shaft rising to a great height, the gentleman standing before the lady, hesitating and blushing began in low and earnest words to pour out the tale of his heart-felt love. Just as the lady looked up from the ground to the face of the gentleman who had finished his story and had repeated two or three times that he could not survive an unrequited love, her glance took in the inscription on the opposite monument which read: "Our Love Has Gone to Heaven." The lady endeavored to answer him, but the perversity of her mind kept the inscription uppermost in her thoughts and despite her best efforts she broke out into a laugh and finally into tears and pointed over to the cause of her distress. In the meanwhile he was stiffening himself again in his resentment, but as soon as his eye caught the significance of the inscription his keen sense of the ridiculous appreciated the situation and he soon made her forget her tears in a musical laugh which she averred was sweeter to her than the finest music she had ever heard. The proposal was continued with no less depth of feeling because mingled with much laughter over their late experiences, and within a few months afterwards they were united in marriage and are to-day as happy a couple as may be found in the city of Louisville."

A number of persons Monday were relating their experiences while engaged in sitting up with the dead. All had more or less interesting incidents to tell, but only one was thrilling enough to make a readable story. The gentleman telling it said that it occurred a few years ago in Louisville, while he was sitting up with the body of a child. It was on the lower floor of a large house where the windows reaching to the floor and were not more than two feet from the ground. The body lay in one room where the lights were turned down low and the gentleman and his friends sat in another, and as the weather was warm the windows in both rooms were raised and the blinds fastened on the inside. About one o'clock at night the friend went to the rear of the house in the upper story to call another gentleman down to take his place and the gentleman relating his experience to the group said: "I was then left alone, fighting mosquitoes, listening to the occasional sweeps of wind through a tree that brushed against the iron water spout and trying to fasten my mind on more cheerful things than death, in order to keep off the shudder that would sometimes run over me in spite of my best efforts. My friend didn't return in ten, twenty nor thirty minutes and I began to fear I would have to sit up with the body the rest of the night alone. It afterwards developed that he had awakened the substitute, as he supposed, and had himself gone to bed in the adjoining room. One hour afterward he accidentally awoke and heard some one snoring in the next room and suspecting who it was, lighted his gas and was dismayed to discover the lapse of time and that his substitute had gone back to sleep. In the meantime I was alone with the dead in that immense house and not a soul on the lower floor. To add to my rapidly weakening nerves I was obliged to dampen the face of the child every twenty minutes with a preparation left for that purpose by the undertaker. I accomplished the task once and had taken up a small lamp to perform it again, when immediately at my back, the shutters parted and I threw my head around and caught sight of something black and two great big eyes, just as the wind blew the light out. I had no other light in that room and though the door of the other room was open, the gas was burning so low it was almost dense darkness in the room I was in. If my life had depended upon it I could not have uttered a sound. I fell back into the chair and heard a scratching noise and a bound to the floor, and at that instant the door opened from the hall which also had a light burning low and I saw the substitute enter. He was somewhat frightened himself at first, but seeing the open shutters quickly comprehended the situation and caught the intruder, who was making his way into the room where the child lay. But the ghost or burglar? Well he was a large Newfoundland dog that belonged to the next door neighbor, as I afterwards learned, and had been a great favorite of the child who, with the neighbor's child, was his almost constant companion. I had heard him howling all the night but he made no noise when approaching the house and must have given the shutters a hard and sudden push to have caused them to next day that he had been chained in the back part of the neighbor's yard and that it was a mystery how he had gotten loose. That he was in quest of the body of the child, I have not a moment's doubt."

"Why is it," said a gentleman today, "that some men can make money rapidly and, apparently, without any effort to plan and contrive the means that others unavailingly labor so hard upon? Some men who are far below the average in intellect and business capacity will put a few hundred dollars in an old lot nobody else would have and in a few years the fruit of the fashionable people in building in that direction has placed an enormous increase on the value of the lot. Another man of real ability will realize in after years by the opportunities that came to him, and which he barely missed securing, that fortune had been chasing him at every turn of the path in his life and still could not overtake him. Another yet will barely eke out a livelihood and in a moment of deepest distress accidentally run upon something in which his sudden success furnishes the proof that his talents were at last put to the uses for which nature and his education designed them. I am not prepared now to say that success is measured by a man's wealth or the estimate of his capacity to earn money, which his circumstances in life may largely control, but it does appear to me that there is about as much due to luck as to the man's powers of mind and body. In some cases I think it is all luck, and in others a mixture of chance openings and the ability to appreciate and improve them."

Admitted the Facts.

Newspaper editors have to be very careful in opening their columns for statements. But aware that the Dr. Miles Medical Co. are responsible, we make room for the following testimonial from R. McDougall, Auburn, Ind., who for two years noticed a stoppage or skipping of the pulse, his left side got so tender he could not lie on it, his heart fluttered, he was alarmed, went to different doctors, found no relief, but one bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured him. ### Deaths.

JETT—Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Matthew Jett, son of the late Peter Jett and brother of Judge W. L. Jett, of this city, and Mrs. Alfred Reed, of this county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. J. Brooks, in Richmond, Ky. The deceased was a native of this county, about 62 years of age, and for the best part of his life a resident of this city. The funeral, which occurred at the Southern Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon, Rev. W. G. The senior proprietor of this paper has been subject to frequent coughs for some years and he was sure to lay him up if not doctored at once. He finds that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is reliable. It opens the secretion, relieves the lungs and restores the system to a healthy condition. If freely used as soon as the cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the attack and often cures in a single day what would otherwise have been a severe cold. Northeastern Hotel Reporter, Des Moines, Iowa, and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. ## MILK CRUST ON BABY Suffered Terribly. No Rest for Baby or Parents. Several Doctors. No Benefit.

First Application of Cuticura, Child Sleeps. Change in One Week. Complete Cure.

Fifteen months ago our child (then an infant) suffered terribly from a skin disease. There was no rest for the child or us. We tried several doctors with no benefit. The doctors said it was Milk Crust. After reading your book, I thought I would try your Cuticura Remedy, and the moment we put Cuticura on the child I felt asleep. In one week's time, we could see a change. We kept on using the three and they cured the child's skin entirely. Now we keep your Cuticura and your CUTICURA SOAP constantly in our house, and would never be without them. JOSEPH LEVY, 666 Main and 95 Beale Sts., Memphis, Tenn.

In regard to the prison contest the people all seem to be of one mind. They care very little whether the Mason & Ford Company or the State wins, but we do insist that the lease system be abolished. There is but one sensible way to settle this matter: increase the number of offenses to which the death penalty may be applied, establish the whipping post, enforce the law and let the State run the prison.

If our Representative, Mr. Shouse, will give himself the trouble to inquire among his constituency, he will find that Dick Godson, of the Clipper, is about right when he says there is considerable dissatisfaction in regard to the course of Mr. Shouse. We think, however, that the sins of Mr. Shouse are rather sins of omission than those of commission.

There seems to be a growing sentiment in favor of W. S. Barbour for the next Judgeship of Woodford.

"I am a Democrat," David Hill is not a better one; but we think it is about time the poor "niggers" had some show before the courts of Kentucky. Recently a negro, in the employ of Mr. R. J. Fogg, was arrested by the Sheriff of Franklin county, taken before Judge Williams, charged with an ugly offense and fined $35. There was absolutely not one iota of proof to fix the crime on the poor ignorant devil. If such proof fixes such a crime, then Judge Williams or any other gentleman might easily be convicted of a like offense, involving the shame of the wife of any friend whose house he is in the habit of visiting. We can conceive of but two reasons for the finding of such a verdict. One, "it's a nigger;" another, "Dick Fogg will pay the fine and enrich the county and the court." We are Democratic people, but we have always claimed to be friends of the negro, and when the Judge's term expires he is likely to hear something drop in this end of his county.

The Electropoise

OLIVE HILL, Ky., January 19, 1893.

Manager Electropoise:—Dear Sir:—Two months ago I commenced treatment with the Electropoise for nervous dyspepsia and chronic constipation, which had failed to yield to any kind of treatment. I was not able to do anything. My nerves were in a terrible condition, the least effort at work or labor of any kind would prostrate me hours at a time. I could eat only a small amount of very light diet, and that would remain on my stomach for some time; palpitation of the heart and all the disagreeable symptoms.

A friend advised me to use the Electropoise, and I consented, and now am able to report a decided change. My bowels are regular, inward piles disappeared, digestion 75 per cent. better, and have gained about 16 pounds; am able to do considerable work, and feel that in a short time I shall be able to report a complete restoration to health.

I would not be without the instrument for any amount, if I could not get another one. Very respectfully, L. P. Clark, Ex. Co. Supt. of Schools for Carter county, Ky.

With the Electropoise we treat all diseases known to the medical profession, without medicines. It does not cost you a cent to consult us and we may be able to do you good.

Owing to increased patronage, we have again been compelled to increase our quarters, and we have now fitted up rooms for the treatment of a limited number of patients who desire to put themselves directly under our treatment, where we can give them personal attention. Descriptive pamphlets free. Call at office, 311 Lewis street, opposite State House.
